               1. We want student representation. Anyone who is willing to help out with logistics. Farrand Field.
1. Yes, as long as we keep the non-partisan tone. Anyone who would like to be a part of this would be welcome. There will be a social media presence by Monday. We are focusing on a positive image and hoping that students will feel welcome and that they were part of the process even if they were not present at the event.

3. Sen. Yin: Any specific information that can be provided to you?
   1. We know that immigration is not just a Latino issue. We would love any representation.

4. Pres. Ahaneku: What are your specific goals for interacting with students because the debate and watch parties are going to be going on as well?

VII. Presidential Action Items
A. Presentation by Breezy Coyne, Director of Homecoming and Events
B. Report by UMC Executive Director Carlos Garcia, UMC Associate Director of Operations/Services Jimmie Baker, and Tania Salgado of Handprint Architecture
   1. Working on a renovation project for the UMC:
      1. Carlos Garcia: Converting the 2nd floor to a “underrepresented student lounge” and expanding the veterans lounge. 3rd floor will now be the new home for the Center of Student Involvement. VRC was moved to the 4th floor. CU Gold will be moving to the 3rd floor.
      2. Tania Salgado: Space is limited, rarely is the space allocated to students and not an academic space. The UMC is all about student involvement, but it is also a veteran memorial center and we need to remember that.
Sustainably conscious company, intent on meeting all of the goals of LEED Silver.

1. Under Represented Students, CST Student Groups, Veterans, and CSI Staffs.
2. Steering Committee: meeting weekly, as well as focus groups to see how the process is going and what is going on.
3. 2nd Floor: Focused on having rooms that support groups of students and the activities that they want to do. Small and large meeting spaces for those who need them and prep rooms for printing and painting. As well as including advisor offices.
4. 3rd Floor: For the Center of Student Involvement and CU Gold offices, aiming to create a welcoming space with student greeters or work space, creating a resource center, office space for advisors, larger format lockers for storage space.
   1. CSI is rebranding, adding teal, gold, and black.
5. 4th Floor: remain primarily as is.
6. Schedule: June to April, maintaining an under $2 million budget. Will be ready for a final review from the university by the end of October.

3. Rep. Larson: How will the affect the accessibility of the UMC.
   1. Everything is pretty well contained.
4. Rep. Ballard: Is there a component of the budget dedicated to unexpected expenses?
   1. Yes, there is a budget reserved for that. We design on a lower budget so that we can do upgrades if possible. Student spaces get the new furniture first.
5. Rep. McCleary: How are you defining underrepresented student groups? How much storage will you have for the student groups?
   1. Still being defined. We are using this term for now, students will define themselves. Wanting to make sure that there is space for everyone. Not as much space as we all want. We are trying to put in as many as we can, groups can utilize the prep rooms during events.
6. Rep. Bove: How does the UMC plan to allocate space to student organizations during this remodel? Happy to see the open concept of the remodel and the importance of the veterans lounge.
1. Make sure to provide pathways, and the 4th floor does not have any major remodel and will happen during winter break.

C. Ratification of UMC Board Members:
   i. Shambhavi Srivastava
   ii. Maanasa Srinivasan

   1. Has shown commitment to the board and student involvement.
   2. Great opportunity to be a voting member, to help make decisions for the board.
      1. The leadership skills, seeing what goes on behind the scenes, to have a voice.
   4. Discussion:
      1. Rep. Rue: Really excited to have these two become a part of the board.
   5. Ratified.

II. Ratification of Representative Gabby Hawkins for Finance Board:
   1. Pres. Ahaneku: What do you hope to bring to the board:
      1. Responsibility when talking about the budget.
   2. Ratified.

III. New Business:
   A. 83LCR04-Student Voices Matter --

   1. Considering how many people who are going to be involved. Over 700 people have signed the petition for support.
   2. This resolution talks about having campus help find a venue to hold this event during the debate.
   3. All relevant parties should work with student voices count to find a space and accommodate their needs to facilitate the event.
   4. The Event: Most likely space where this would happen is the Center for Community courtyard. Our intention is to work with other student organizations to help get more involvement. We want something that the university can be proud of. We will have a moderator and a student panel, as well as guest speakers. Represent the student body, the youth in the process, and the university in general. We want it to be something professional that everyone can be proud of.
      1. Sen. Coleman: How are you going about choosing who will be speaking, moderating and the student panels?
         1. Regardless of whether or not the space of obtained, the broadcast will still occur. At this point the process has not be officially be set. The plan is to have 4 student panelists from a variety of backgrounds. In terms of speakers, inviting those who have supported the organization thus far, various Senators and Representatives. We do not want to compete with CUSG events, we want to work together.

2. Rep. Ballard: Would being connected to the school's Internet be sufficient? Have you reached out to any news channels to help with the technical side?
   1. Yes, we have back up generators and plans in the case that it fails. We have some people who are interested in covering the event; we are expecting the news interest to grow rapidly. In terms of help with coordinating the event, we would love to have the support from CUSG, we have applied for press passes to get into the debate.

3. Rep. Rue: Where are you in terms of getting the space and the process?
   1. We are in the works of getting a on-campus sponsor.
      1. Economic department, political science department, and joint sponsorship between a political party group on campus.

4. Pres. Ahaneku: Have you spoken to any campus event planners? Have you talked to CUPD about how the trucks will get through?
   1. I believe that they have been involved in the email chain, but I cannot confirm. The space was not named specifically, it was just said that it was the courtyard/pavilion. Have people come and be in the audience of the broadcast, but also encourage them to attend the watch parties and other event surrounding the event that are going on around campus. We have not.

5. Rep. Larson: What are the steps that you are taking to make sure that it does not turn into a protest? Have you thought of a rain plan?
   1. We are stressing the fact that we are a movement; we are channeling people’s positivity and their hope for the future. There are a lot of other groups out there that are obviously protest groups, if people are looking for a protest and who have those intentions will find those other groups. We will be in contact with CUPD and Be Heard to make sure that those who we are bring to the event are positive and will represent the cause well. We do not have any plans for a different location in case of weather.

6. Rep. Hawkins: Do you want students to be participating in the broadcast?
   1. Yes. We really want to share student voices, whether that be in the immediate vicinity or involved around the campus at different events, also have input from students across the country.

5. Discussion:
   1. Rep. Izar: This is definitely what we want to hear in terms of the debate. We are making this an educational experience, not just for CU students, but also for the Boulder community at large.
      Would like to add my sponsorship to the resolution.
   2. Rep. Ballard: Appreciate everything that you have done.
   3. Pres. Trevino: Asks a member of the council to move to amend the number of students.
   4. Rep. Ballard: Move to amend, nearly to over 1000
students. Approved.
   5. Pres. Ahaneku: Would love to have you all included in CUSG’s event that is occurring on the same day. Not entirely sure what the campus’ take on having multiple events on this day, if you cannot get the space you are more than welcome to combine with CUSG’s event.
      1. The media footprint will cause traffic disruption and in terms of the security of the event there are logistical issues in getting IT support. You can get help from other media outlets at the watch party.
   6. Aaron Estevez-Miller: I assume that those concerns were taken into consideration when picking this possible venue.
   8. Lisa S.: There are a lot of resources dedicated to this day. There seems to be a timing issue on who came first, 2 very large events that are happening, as well as the CUSG event and the Student Voices Count event. Our infrastructure might be our biggest problem. This resolution is a phenomenal representation of what I have been hearing from students. Media credentials might be tricky to get.

9. Aaron Miller: What we are attempting to do will be very different than what is going to happen in the Coors Event Center. We will have student discussion, letting people’s voices be broadcasted be nationally. We do not want a repeat of what is going on in the debate. The effort is to allow all students to be involved and to be able to speak about these topics. Less of a media spectacle but more of a way to amplify the voice of students on campus. We have an opportunity that there can be a more inclusive and effective way to talk about these issues.

6. Rep. Lacombe: This is an incredible student movement, what they have been able to put together in this amount of time is amazing. I do not think that the logistical issues should keep us from supporting this event. We want this to be a representation of CU and student’s voices. It is a way for students for those who do not just want to go to a watch party or participate in a protest.

7. Pres. Trevino: Echoing Rep. Lacombe. This is the typing of thing that the student body needs to support.

8. Resolution passes on first reading.
